International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching

Volume 11, Issue 1, March 2023

CONTENTS

Rezalou, A. & Yağiz, O. (2023). The effects of communicative activities on EFL learners' speaking performances in CLT classroom. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 1-19.

Çay, A. R. & Özçelik, N. (2023). Attitudes of French teacher candidates regarding the use of distance education environments. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 20-34.

Yılmaz Virlan, A. (2023). Instructional functions of code-switching in the EFL classroom. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 35-52.

Öztürk, B. (2023). Analysis of the poem called 'Lavinia' within the framework of speech act theory. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 53-69.

Gündoğdu, B. (2023). A Comparative analysis on Madonna In Fur Coat and its German translation "Die Madonna im Pelzmantel". International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 70-80.

Karakaya, C. & Eminoğlu Küçüktepe, S. (2023). An investigation on English speaking anxiety among EFL vocational and technical high school students. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 81-94.

Erdoğan, E. (2023). Book Review of Roland Kaehlbrandt's Book "Deutsch- Eine Liebeserklärung. Die zehn großen Vorzüge unserer erstaunlichen Sprache". International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 95-98.

Nayman, H. & Yılmaz, A. S. (2023). Self-Efficacy of English preparatory students according to their English levels and VAK learning modalities: a study in hybrid education context. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 99-110.

Kılınç, O. (2023). On the terms of "vocabulary, word/speech, word" used in word studies. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 111-121.

Ayhan, E. & Payan, A. (2023). The relationship between critical thinking and self-regulation in vocabulary learning. International Journal of Languages' Education and Teaching, 11(1), 122-134.